Want to learn about online hate speech/ antisemitism and how to combat it using Artificial Intelligence?

Join a team or compose your own to participate in a DATATHON where students learn how to deal with big data and a HACKATHON where students learn to make use of AI in a series of competitive team-based workshops coached by IU professors.

All high school students are invited to apply! No prior knowledge is required but some experience with programming may be useful.

Visit http://social-lense.online/ to learn more, read the competition guidelines, and complete a team or individual application.
